

REMOVAL.
The Whig and Courier Office has been removed to the spacious room in the second story of the Kenduskeag Market.

WHIG MEETING.
The Whigs of Bangor will meet, for organizing a CLAY CLUB, at the City Hall, THIS (Thursday) EVENING, Dec. 21st. An address will be delivered by the Hon. EDWARD KENT. Let there be a gathering of the whole people, who are only interested in parties so far as their measures conduce to the general welfare. Come up, then, to the City Hall, all who are in favor of Home Industry, Economy in Government, Respect for the Laws, a Sound Currency, and General Prosperity.

Organization of the Clay Club this evening.
The Whigs of Bangor will assemble at the City Hall this evening for the purpose of organizing a Clay Club. An address will be delivered by Gov. Kent and the song of a correspondent, which we publish to day, will strongly tempt our friends to get up appropriate music for the occasion. The meeting will be one of great interest and we hope to see a numerous company of our friends present to participate in the organization of the Club and to enjoy the intellectual treat that will be afforded them.
Let the Whigs of our city go up this evening to the "Cradle of Liberty" and unite their efforts to free the Government of the country from misrule and corruption and to secure those measure which will advance the true liberty, happiness and prosperity of the people and the perpetuity of the republican institutions for which the gallant Whigs of 1776 suffered and toiled and which they bequeathed as a rich inheritance to us their offspring.

The Washington Globe, since the election of its publishers as printers to Congress, speaks out pretty strongly against a portion of the dear democracy. The Globe thinks it was quite bad enough to have the whigs proclaim it to be an infamous sheet, without having a portion of its own party presses turn against it in order to show their gratitude to Mr. Tyler for showering executive patronage upon their establishments.

The Tylerized democrats and "such busy, intriguing politicians as Gorham Parks of Maine; Isaac Mill, of New Hampshire, the late progeny of the Boston custom-house; Slamm, Bang and Company of New York, with the whole gang of Mr. Curtis's custom-house agency, reaching far beyond his locality; Joel B. Sotherland, wielding the lever of the Government patronage of a like establishment, with which he is connected in Philadelphia,"—all these and even a sower of disaffection at St. Louis, in connection with the President's son Bob, the Globe states, brought their influence to bear against, "a poor printer, struggling for life in the midst of a multitude of powerful competitors" and all this because the Globe would not support the present administration.

This is the spirit of the Globe, and so far as it relates to the democracy, shows a very "fine state of feeling." The idea of the Globe publishers speaking of themselves as a "poor printer," when they offered to place several thousand dollars at the disposal of Gen. Jackson, and after they received so many thousand of dollars from government, is truly laughable—quite ridiculous, indeed!

We conclude to-day the papers upon Jurisprudence and Legislation by our correspondent Leonidas. These papers have attracted no little attention, and the subject matter of them is deserving the consideration of every man. No profession should suffer from prejudice—no man be injured on account of profession. The great idea of the equality of all professions should be kept up amidst all the jostle of life. The permanency, independence and dignity of our judiciary should be maintained as the best security for life, liberty and possessions.

Shocking Depravity.
The following is in brief the painful and heart sickening account of depravity at Oberlin, as given in detail by the Cleveland Ohio Herald, of all places on this earth where we should least have expected it.

Poor human nature is indeed fallen! The Rev. H. C. Taylor, editor of the Oberlin Evangelist, was on Friday last committed to the jail of Lorain county, on a charge of stealing money, at different times and in various sums, in all supposed to amount to a large sum. He stole it from the Evangelist Office, and the Oberlin Post Office, in both of which he has been a clerk. He is also charged with seducing a girl in his family, and procuring an abortion.

We learn that since his arrest he fully confesses all the crimes and enormities charged, and was required by Justice Birch, of Elyria, to give bail for trial in the sum of $2000, in default of which he is now in jail.

A few months after procuring the abortion Taylor married his second wife, and it is stated that the sanctimonious hypocrite preached a moral reform sermon on his wedding day!

Fire at Milwaukee.
A new unfinished block, located opposite the Presbyterian Church, and owned by Rufus Parks, Esq., formerly of this city, was entirely destroyed by fire on the 4th inst. Loss $3,000. Insured for $1,400.

We are indebted to Gilman's & Co's. Express for a comfortable lot of New York and Boston papers received last evening in advance of the mail.

The firemen in Philadelphia have had an other riotous fight.

Richard N. Avery, formerly a student at Phillips's Academy in Andover, has been arrested for forging five checks of $115, each on Rev. E. W. P. Wells; examined at the Police Court Boston and bound over to the municipal court. He is a young man, and very repentant.

GRAHAM'S MAGAZINE, for January 1844.
This number commences a new volume and is splendidly embellished and contains a great variety of pleasing matter. Bugbee has received a supply where our readers can purchase a single number or engage all the numbers for the year.

THE PICTORIAL BIBLE, Nos. 12 and 13.
Mr. Duren has received the twelfth and thirteenth numbers of this great work. The thirteenth number brings the work up to the 4th Chap of St. Luke.

Does the Gazette think, that copying our news items from a Portland paper, absolves them from giving credit?

CONGRESS.

Senate, Dec. 15.
Mr Choate presented petitions from D. Appleton, and other booksellers, for a copy-right law; also the petition of H. Hatch, of Massachusetts, in reference to French spoliation prior to 1800.

Mr Morehead submitted a motion for printing 400 additional copies of a pamphlet translated from the Russian language, upon the culture of hemp—this document made part of the Report of the Secretary of the Navy, now in process of being printed.

Mr Huntington, on leave, introduced a bill providing that in future the Assistant Postmaster General should be appointed by and with the advice and consent of the Senate.

The Senate held a short Executive session, and having received from the House the announcement of the death of the Hon. Col. Millen, from Georgia, passed the usual tribute of respect, and adjourned over until Monday next.

House of Representatives.

The subject of admitting the general ticket members, was referred to a select committee.

Mr. Giddings gave notice that he should move an amendment to the 23d rule.

Mr J. R. Ingersoll offered the following resolutions, which were adopted.

Resolved, That the President be requested to cause to be furnished to the House such information as may be on file in any of the Departments relative to the formation of a junction between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

Resolved, That the Committee on Ways and Means be instructed to inquire into the expediency of introducing a bill to levy duties upon the importation of tea and coffee.

Mr. Stiles addressed the house on the death of Col. John Millen of Georgia, and the House adjourned.

On Saturday, the House elected Mr. Linsley, a Methodist Clergyman of Indiana, to be their Chaplain. On the first ballot there was no choice. Mr. Tiffany, the late Chaplain had the highest number of votes next to the successful candidate.

Mr. Adams then offered sundry petitions relative to the right of petition, the annexation of Texas to the U. States, and the abolition of slavery, which occasioned some degree of excitement, and gave rise to a long debate.

The House devoted the day to the reception of petitions.

The Senate did not sit on Saturday.

Jurisprudence and Legislation.

No. VI.
[CONCLUDED]

The venerable Chancellor Kent, now eighty years old, in his late answer to a letter from the Bar of the State of New York, inviting him to a public dinner, appropriately remarks: "The security of our civil and political privileges, greatly depends upon an enlightened, impartial, honest, prompt, and independent administration of justice—and this inestimable blessing depends essentially upon the character of the Bar—and they ought, and I trust they generally do, feel all the responsibility which such an elevated trust imposes."

One of the greatest and most alarming evils in the State and Nation, is the political immorality of the times. With all our means of intelligence, comfort, elevation, and dignity of character—and all our pretensions to candor and fairness—there is not one subject in ten that can be started in the State or National Legislature, without coming in contact with the pestiferous breath of party politics. Men, possessing, in private life, all the virtues that adorn humanity, the moment they enter public life, seem at once to lose their senses—or in other words, their judgment, their candor, and their self-respect—and to sink into the corrupting vortex of political infidelity and partizan degradation, never again to rise to the dignity of men, much less to that of Statesmen. And hence arises, in a great measure, those frequent and pernicious changes in our laws and regulations respecting the public administration of justice.

That everlasting restlessness, that eternal love of change and experiment, that growing desire for wealth, office, and power, that feverish contempt of all legal, social, and moral restraint, that pervading disposition to believe a lie, which have so long distinguished the American people, have well nigh ruined our country, and rendered her a by-word among the enlightened nations of the earth. The direful consequences are seen wherever the eye of intelligence and patriotism is turned to behold—but more especially in the Legislative and Executive Departments of these American Republics. And although these rueful consequences are thus constantly standing out before us, in reproachful admonition, nothing seems to restrain or satisfy the insatiate and everlasting maw of radicalism. The country has been vomited and purged by quacks until the patient is quite exhausted, and yet empiricism is not satisfied—the two extremes of the Union must be again assailed—the Judiciary of Maine must be destroyed, and the cause of Slavery riveted upon the country, by the annexation of Texas to our Union. If either of these wild schemes should be adopted, we doubt not that a brief experience would show, that the pernicious project was but "A chase of idle hopes and fears, Begun in folly, closed in tears."

A multiplicity of crime—and particularly mob law, is another bane of our age and nation. It cannot have escaped the observation of intelligent and observing minds, that not only vul-garities of mind and manners, but embezzlements, frauds, corruptions, riots, mobs, rapes, murders, and other atrocious outrages, in our country, have increased, at a fearful rate within some dozen years past. And while it is obvious that a variety of concurring causes have tended to this mournful result, it is most apparent that the elevation of unworthy men to high official stations, and the pernicious influence of their characters, measures, and habits, has done more than all other causes combined, to produce this sad state of things. It is truly painful to a cultivated, patriotic mind to observe the growing rowdiness of the age, and the increasing numbers of otherwise respectable people, who from personal or party motives, of the most unworthy character, openly and publicly sustain and encourage mob law, and its ruffianism, for the redress of every imaginary grievance, for which established law does not, in the minds of the rabble, afford an immediate, adequate remedy.

In order to check these monstrous evils, and, to save the country from their direful consequences, our Executive-Magistrates, our Legislators, or Judicial and subordinate officers, our public teachers, our temperance lecturers, our Lyceums, our fathers and mothers—yea, our whole people, must arouse from their deathly slumbers, to the rapidly advancing dangers which every where surround us. In the just and eloquent language of another, "let every true patriot hold himself a volunteer, a minute man, to defend law, social order, and good government, and for their defence let him hold pledged life fortune and sacred honor. No matter how or what the cause of outrage, it is the duty of American citizens sacredly to sustain law." Let us, then, one and all, unite in vigorous efforts to produce a general elevation and dignity of character—and ever carry about with us the deep conviction, that "next to our duty to God, there is none higher and more sacred than that which we owe to our country."
LEONIDAS.
Ellsworth, Dec. 15th, 1843.

For the Whig & Courier.
Song—For Clay Clubs.
Tune—Auld Lang Syne.

We come to seek our Country's good,
And, by discussion free,
To make that welfare understood,
And priz'd as it should be.

CHORUS.
The blessings, which our Fathers sought,
Their sons should strive to hold,
And guard the rights for which they fought
More watchfully than gold.

The principles, which rul'd the land,
Ere liberty was gain'd,
Still live, and stretch a ruthless hand,
To crush the hopes obtained.
The blessings, &c.

These principles we will abjure,
While life shall give us breath,
And follow those, which will secure
That liberty, till death.
The blessings, &c.

To labor in this work we meet,
To swell its triumph come,
And with a kindred heart would greet,
Each guest, who claims our home.
The blessings, &c.

We come to own the cause of one,
Who merits all our aid—
We come "to hail the rising sun,"
Whose light is free from shade.
CHORUS.

For Clay we meet, for Clay unite,
For Clay our wishes flow,
For Clay we'll speak, for Clay we'll write,
For Clay we all will go.

Bring all the names, which others boast,
The virtues they possess—
Their splendor and their worth are lost,
In that which we profess.
For Clay we meet, &c.

His deeds, his virtues, and his praise
Are stamp'd on every page,
Which in resplendent lines portrays
The glory of our age.
For Clay, &c.

For these we would around him throw
The Patriot's wreath of Fame,
Nor fear, the blossoms there, which blow
Will ever drop with shame.
For Clay, &c.

Then let us join with heart and hand
To pay the honor due,
To make him Ruler of the land,
Its pride and blessing too.
For Clay, &c.

Arise once more the pledge to give
For "Harry of the West,"
Of all the public men, who live
The wisest and the best.
For Clay we meet, for Clay unite,
For Clay our wishes flow,
For Clay we'll speak, for Clay we'll write,
For Clay we all will go.

THE BOSTON ALMANAC, FOR 1844
BY S. N. DICKINSON,
Will be ready for purchasers in the early part of December. Orders first received will meet with the first attention. It will contain A CLASSIFIED DIRECTORY, OF ALL THE
BUSINESS PEOPLE AND FIRMS IN THE CITY,
Alphabetically arranged under each business, or profession. The advantages of such a Directory consist, in bringing to a point, from all parts of the city, the names of all persons engaged in each particular business. For instance, in a small compass, under the head of Hardware Dealers, will be found the names and places of business of all who deal in that commodity. So of Dry Goods, Leather, Furniture, Iron, Hats, Hosiery, etc., etc., all will be arranged, that the reader may see, at a glance, the names of all those who are dealers in any one article. A variety of other useful and interesting matter will be found in this little volume.
It will contain 25 or 30 pages more than heretofore,
and is printed throughout on a new and beautiful Raby Type, cut in Edinburgh, and obtained expressly for this work. The Calendar pages, as usual, will contain space for memoranda for each day in the year. It will be handsomely and substantially bound in cloth, and sold as usual, at 25 cents per copy.
Orders may be sent to the Proprietor,
S. N. DICKINSON, 62 Washington Street, or to Messrs.
THOMAS GROOM & CO., 82 State Street.
In either case they will meet with prompt attention
Boston, Nov. 17, 1843.

PRIVATE LESSONS IN DANCING AND WALTZING.
MR. E. A. CHANDLER, would most respectfully inform the Ladies and Gentlemen of Bangor, that for one month previous to the commencement of a School, he is prepared to give Private Lessons in Dancing and Waltzing, either at the Exchange Hotel, where he will be found during the day, or, at the residence of those who desire it. Terms satisfactory.
Bangor, Oct. 7, 1843. tf

REMOVAL.
J. W. LAWREY, has removed his Oyster Store and Refreshment Establishment to the New Store adjoining W. T. Pearson's, opposite Mercantile Square.
Grateful for past favors, he would inform his old customers and the public in general, that he has made extensive arrangements in New York and Boston, for a constant supply of first rate, fresh Oysters; which he would be happy to furnish Wholesale and Retail, at prices to suit the times.
His Table will be constantly supplied (as usual),
with a good variety of Refreshments.
